Jr. High Quad-State Band Participants Selected From Graves County Middle School

Congratulations to CJ E, Kayleigh P, Abby R, and Chris R.

These four Graves County Middle School students were selected to participate in the 2007 Jr. High Quad-State Band at Murray State University on November 19, 2007.

The Quad-State Band Clinic is hosted each year by Murray State University and is held the Monday prior to Thanksgiving. Students are nominated by their band director and are then selected by the University based on the student's ranking and the Quad-State Band's instrumentation needs.

The Quad-State Band Clinic provides GCMS students the opportunity to rehearse and perform alongside students from other schools and backgrounds. The students will also be exposed to new methods and ideas presented by different directors that they may not have access to in their regular classroom environment.

Students find this program to be a very rewarding and fun activity and look forward to other chances like this to build on their band experiences. The Graves County Middle School Band participates in this program yearly.

Jonathan Light is the director of the Graves County Middle School Band.
